VI. READING

A. Read the passage carefully and choose the correct answer

There is one planet that still fascinates and teases scientists mainly because it doesn't have an atmosphere to obscure observation, yet it is not big enough for sufficiently accurate telescopic observation. The fact that it is also very close to the sun also makes it difficult for astronomers.

However, space telescopes have told us a lot more about Mercury. It is rather similar to Earth's moon and to Mars. There are mountainous areas dotted with craters and large valleys which are uncrated. The moon's valleys have fewer cracks and the ridges are smoother. Mercury's valleys are filled with volcanic rocks, similar to on the moon, yet there is no evidence of volcanoes, even extinct ones, on Mercury, as there is on both Mars and the moon, and of course here on Earth.

So, scientists presume the valleys on Mercury were caused by different things, that is to say not by volcanoes, but by very large meteorites, which also caused the cracks in the terrain and left the ridges rough and uneven. More and better photos of Mercury are needed to prove what are at present at best only hypotheses.

1. What is the topic of this passage?

A. The planet, Mercury	B. Observation of planets
C. The Earth's moon	D. Astronomers' difficulties
2. Why does Mercury still tease scientists?

A. Because it has an atmosphere that obscures observation.	B. Because it is too close to the sun.
C. Because it is difficult for space probes to get close to.	D. Because it is too small.
3. What is true about Mercury but not true about the moon or Mars?

A. The valleys are filled with volcanic rocks.	B. There are no volcanoes.
C. The valleys are uncrated	D. There are hilly regions.
4. What does the author imply space telescopes can do better than land-based telescopes?

A. Show, the volcanoes on Mercury.	B. Show the meteorites which hit Mercury.
C. Show what caused Mercury's valleys.	D. Show more of the planet, Mercury.
5. What can we infer from the passage that astronomers still need to get more detailed observations of Mercury?

A. Better and more space telescopes	B. More hypotheses.
C. Larger space telescopes	D. More ways to prove hypotheses.

B. Fill in each numbered blank with one suitable word or phrase.

Until recently, you may only read in science fiction that an ordinary person could (1) ____ a trip into space. We have heard ideas about holidays to the Moon, but these were just a story, and every day flights into space seemed just a distant possibility. Aspirations for space tourism are remembered in science fiction works such as Arthur C. Clarke's A Fall of Moondust and Islands of the Sky. But now, this fiction could become achievable as major steps are being taken to make the dream (2) ____ traveling into space become a practical reality. On 28 April 2001, Dennis Tito, a millionaire, became the world's first space astronaut. Tito was (3) _____ into space on board a Russian Soyuz capsule. He showed that anyone could make a space journey. Five years on, scientists are (4) _____ to shape the future in order to give everyone a chance to fulfill their dreams of traveling into space, whether (5) ____ not they are millionaires.
